

Stacey Doré

Chief Strategy & Sustainability Officer, Executive Vice President of Public Affairs

Stacey Doré is Vistra's chief strategy & sustainability officer and executive vice president of public affairs. In this role, Doré is responsible for corporate strategy, M&A, sustainability, regulatory and government affairs, communications, and community engagement.

Prior to joining Vistra, Doré most recently served as president and chief executive officer of Hunt Utility Services and Sharyland Utilities, an electric utility within the Electric Reliability Council of Texas market, from 2019-2021. Prior to that role, she was senior vice president and general counsel for publicly traded InfraREIT, Inc. (NYSE: HIFR) an electric transmission and distribution company structured as a real estate investment trust, from 2016-2019.

Doré originally joined Vistra's predecessor companies in 2008 as part of the legal team where she served in several leadership roles, including executive vice president, general counsel, and chief restructuring officer. She began her career as an attorney at Vinson & Elkins, LLP in 1997.

Outside of her responsibilities at Vistra, Doré is a member of the board of directors for Williams (NYSE: WMB), a leading energy infrastructure company with operations across the natural gas value chain. She is also actively involved in her community and has served as a board member for several nonprofits.

Doré received her juris doctor from Harvard Law School and a bachelor's degree in journalism from University of Southwestern Louisiana.